Dear Caroline

I was delighted to receive your letter, although sorry that your accident may have been the opportunity to clear your mail. France has just passed through a political experience of same import to her and the world than her revolution of 1789. It has been thrilling indeed, and some results will soon appear, most of them for the good of mankind.

Yes, I have earnestly undertaken the gigantic work of giving out a worth while translation of Urantia. I work at it an average of four hours a day, two of them in the early morning hours and the others when I can.

The plan is the following. I have ~~tried~~ divided the work into 28 booklets of about 75 pages each, all to be translated in handwriting, revised by two different persons, finally corrected by me, and then typewritten in 4 copies by my secretary. The situation today is the following:

- PART I - 5 booklets. All handwritten exclusively by me. All typewritten.
- PART II - 4 booklets. All handwritten . . . the first being typed.
- Part III - 9 booklets. One handwritten by professional translator, under revision by my wife and me. One being handwritten by same translator. One begun by myself.
- PART IV - 10 booklets, two already handwritten by a lady friend and partly corrected by me.

I guess that another two years may be needed to complete the work. If I want it done during this incarnation of mine, I must push it relentlessly forward. A very interesting working group is spontaneously forming around the teaching, which seems to be connected with the most secret doctrine of the Masonry dating from the 9th Century. Of course, Urantia is more extensive.

When the time of printing comes, I guess that a capital outlay of some $25,000. will be needed. The book should be published in 3 volumes; Volume one to contain Parts I and II, Vol. 2, Part III, and Volume three Part IV; index in separate booklet.

I have cut in three one copy of the book and had the three pieces bound separately. It has been very useful, because the book can be partly lent, and you know that books spread by lending.

. . . as yet I have no formal agreement with them for the publishing. I am not in a special hurry but the sooner the matter will be settled the more safely I can plan for the financing. . . any suggestion from your side would be welcome. How far are they with the index? . . . I need as much help as you can from you in the field of relationships with the U. Brotherhood.

Expecting further news, I remain as always

Faithfully yours
